

Completion of Requirements for Admission to Master's Candidacy
Department of Psychological Sciences
Rice University

Your admission to candidacy committee is responsible for determining your requirements for admission to candidacy. Since faculty and students in this department have diverse research interests and philosophies of education, we believe this flexible system for admission to candidacy is preferable to a uniform set of requirements.

The attainment of candidacy marks the completion of all requirements for the degree other than those related to research leading to the writing, submission, and defense of the thesis.

Please have all members of your admission to candidacy committee print their names, sign, and date below.
